Young Moms Work & Wellness Bridge

About South Project

Founded by a young mom who overcame the challenges of early motherhood at age 15, South Project exists to empower young mothers through educational workshops, mentorship, and access to essential resources all within a supportive, stigma-free environment,

South Project envisions a future where young mothers are empowered to build independent, fulfilling lives. We are committed to creating a supportive, stigma-free community that provides resources, mentorship, and encouragement to help them achieve their goals and give back to their community

The Need

Young mothers in Houston face unique obstacles, including childcare, transportation, and a lack of access to mentorship or career pathways. These barriers often prevent them from completing their education or securing stable employment.
